

What God Thinks When You're Not Feeling Good Enough

Why are you feeling that you are not good enough?

I don't hold your sins against you. I accept you. I don't condemn you. (2 Cor. 5:18-19; Rom. 8:1).

You are my workmanship, and I'm not done with my work yet. I'm making you into the image of my son, Jesus (Eph. 2:10; Rom. 8:28).

I've called you, and I've already made you "good enough." Even when you make mistakes, I'm working something good in you through the experience. In fact, you are reflecting my glory right now, even though you don't feel it (Eph. 2:10; Romans 8:28-30 NIV; 2 Cor. 3:18).

Sure, you blew it, but I did not slip up when I created you. All your days have been written in my Book. This one did not catch me by surprise (Psalm 139:15-16).

I have a specially designed destiny for you that will expand my kingdom on earth, bring you hope, and a prosperous future (Jer. 1:7,10; 29:11).

Now get back to loving and living life. I'm so enjoying the experience of living it with you (Rom. 8:38-39).

I love you, God
